ANNUAL FEES

Most UCLA fees, shown in this section as annual totals, are paid by term. Self-supporting programs may have different payment schedules.

Academic Degrees Professional Degrees Self-Supporting Degrees

Self-supporting graduate professional-degree programs primarily serve professionals seeking to advance their careers. These programs allow UCLA to serve additional students above and beyond those supported by state funds, and fulfill demonstrated higher education and workforce needs.

Self-supporting graduate professional degree programs include, but are not limited to, those that serve nontraditional populations such as full-time employees, mid-career professionals, international students with specialized goals, and students whose professional education is supported by their employers.

Because these programs are not supported with state funds, students are not eligible for Cal Vet tuition/fee exemptions.

For costs associated with the program, admission requirements, program of study, refund policy, and course calendar, see the program website.
